Q&A on Subsidy

Q: Will I be subsidized if I receive public assistance or school aid?

A: School meal fee is covered entirely by public assistance and school aid, so recipients of these programs are not eligible for this subsidy. However, those who receive partial support for school meal expenses through the Special Support Education Schooling Incentive Fee or other means are eligible for the subsidy after deducting the amount of such support.

Q: If my child moves to a school outside the city in the middle of the school year, will it be subsidized?

A: The subsidy is only available for the period during which the student attends a junior high school in Sakura City. The subsidy will not be available after the date of the student's transfer to a school outside the city.

Q: Of the three dependent children, the older two live separately from their parents. Is the subsidy available to a third child enrolled in a Sakura City junior high school?

A: For the two older children, regardless where they live, as long as they can be verified as dependents with a copy of their health insurance card, the third child is eligible for the subsidy.

Q: What should I do if I only have "My Number-linked health insurance card" to confirm my dependent status?

A: Log in to Japan's My Portal system using your child's My Number Card, take a screenshot of the screen displaying their health insurance eligibility information, and attach the copy of it.

You can access the instructions for operating My Portal via the municipal website indicated to the right.

Note: Please do not attach a copy of My Number card.

Q: What should I do if I cannot submit an electronic application?

A: Application forms are available at the school. If you would like one, please contact the school.

You can also download the form from the city's website.
